COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

MULTI-MODAL

Discipleship of Men*, Prof. Kirk Giles, May 2 & June 13, 9:00am-4:00pm

This course explores the biblical design and role of men, and the importance of the discipleship of men in shaping healthy families and churches. Students will understand how to address the primary spiritual battles men face. Blueprint will provide a practical framework to assist church leaders to personally disciple another man, build a church culture that will impact men's lives, and build a disciple making men's ministry. PAS503-1 (Seminary); MIN283-1 (College)

Luke/Acts*, Dr. Wayne Baxter, May 9 & June 20, 9:00am-4:00pm

This course examines the two-volume work of Luke and Acts in their social-historical and literary contexts. Topics receiving special focus include Jewish—Christian relations, Luke's interpretation of scripture, the Holy Spirit, and prayer.

BNT630-1 (Seminary); BNT390-1 (Senior College Students)

Biblical Spirituality for a "Spiritual" World*, Dr. J. Stephen Yuille, May 16 & June 6, 9:00am-4:00pm

According to Alister McGrath, "spirituality is the outworking in real life of a person's religious faith" – what we do with what we believe. Clearly, if the framework by which we understand Christian spirituality is unbiblical, then our conclusions regarding Christian spirituality will be unbiblical. That said, the purpose of this course is to study the biblical foundations of Christian spirituality. In so doing, we will avail ourselves of our rich evangelical heritage (Patristic, Medieval, Reformed, & Puritan) to inform our pursuit and practice of biblical spirituality. SPF512-1 (Seminary); REL401-1 (Senior College Students)

MODULE

Pastoral Epistles*, Dr. Michael Haykin, May 4-8, 9:00am-4:00pm

From the second century author, Maricon, who rejected the inspiration of the pastoral epistles, to the 21st century readers, who debate Paul's teaching on male and female, the pastoral epistles have proved to be controversy in church history. Yet these letters have richly informed the church's teaching on God, Christ, and the Holy Spirit, as well as the nature of scripture and pastoral ministry. Come spend a week reading this vital portion of God's word.

BNT551-1 (Seminary); BNT242-1 (Senior College Students)

Typical Problems in Biblical Counselling*, Dr. Eamon Wilson, May 8-9 and June 19-20, 9:00am-4:00pm

This course will involve the conceptualization and counselling methodology for problems typically encountered in Biblical Counseling. Biblical formulations and secular approaches will be compared and contrasted.

PCS514-1 (Seminary); Prerequisites (PCS512-1 and PCS513-1)

Islam Faith and Culture*, Dr. Amal Gendi, May 25-29, 9:00am-4:00pm

This course seeks to introduce the major religious and cultural dimensions of the Islamic world, both those that express its diversity and those that express its continuity. No previous work is presupposed. Emphasis will be given to the development of classical Islamic institutions and ideas as well as the diverse forms of Islamic religious and cultural life. The course has three major purposes: (1) to provide students with a better and deeper understanding of the importance of the Islamic past upon the Islamic world today, (2) to reveal contemporary Muslims' own self-understanding of their system(s) of religious faith and practices, (3) to develop tools for dialogue and faith communication with Muslims. While it is not a history course, anyone taking it should come away with a basic grasp of the larger historical framework within which Islamic civilization has developed. Moreover, students will learn from Canadian Muslims themselves what it means to be a religious Muslim. ICS615-1 (Seminary); ICS315-1 (College)

Spiritual Care & Counselling*, Prof. Nancy Wahl, May 25-29, 9:00am-4:00pm

This course identifies and explores the critical role of counseling in spiritual and/or pastoral care, including the development of a "spiritual care" world view and cultivation of a "spiritual counseling" skill set. It includes a study of the principles and methods of brief pastoral counseling, and instruction in the use of Solution-Focused techniques or interventions. In addition, it introduces the student to spiritual assessment, brief spiritual direction, and basic crisis counseling. The course includes an instructional component and practical assignments requiring application of skills. PCS530-1 (Seminary)

Preaching Narrative*, Dr. Kent Edwards, May 27-29, 9:00am-4:00pm

This course introduces students to the challenges and opportunities of preaching sermons from biblical narratives. It provides an interactive overview of the exegetical and homiletical tasks and provides students with two opportunities to preach two narrative sermons without notes. HOM683-1 (Seminary). GCBP Students)

Eschatology*, Rev. Kirk Wellum, June 1-5, 9:00am-4:00pm

In this course we will explore what the Bible teaches about last things or eschatology. This includes a consideration of the Bible story-line which culminates with the return of the Lord at the end of the age. As part of our investigation we will examine key passages of scripture including the prophecy of Daniel, the Olivet Discourse in Matthew 24-25, Romans 11, and the book of Revelation. We will also look at biblical teaching surrounding death, resurrection, and the new heaven and earth. THS791-1 (Seminary); THE414-1 (Senior College Students)
