July 1 - August 16; Exam Week: August 12-16

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

MULTI MODAL

Hebrews*, Dr. Wayne Baxter

This course investigates the claims of the NT authors as they were reflecting on the OT message. We will investigate their methods of interpreting the OT within the context of early Judaism, the various uses they made of the OT, and the effect of their interpretations. The continuity of Scripture, scholarly viewpoints on the relationship between the testaments, principles for interpreting the NT, and implications for nurturing our faith will be discussed.

MODULES

Science and Christianity*, Dr. Mark Lambert

This course examines the relation between science and Christianity: historically, methodologically, philosophically, as well as personally and practically. Christianity has faced challenges from new ideas including Greek science and philosophy in the past, and more recently the issue of evolutionary origins. What lessons can we learn from the past to help us respond well now?

THS510-1 & 23 (Seminary); THE350-1 & 23 (Senior College Students)

Johannine Literature*, Dr. Andreas Kostenberger

The Johannine literature, which comprises John's Gospel, 1-3 John, and Revelation, makes an essential contribution to the theology of the New Testament and the entire Bible. In this course primary emphasis is given to John's Gospel, and here especially the seven signs of Jesus. The Johannine letters (1-3 John) and the book of Revelation will be surveyed as well.

History of Christian Leadership*, Dr. Michael Azad A.G. Haykin

Leadership is vital to the life and existence of the church. Events of recent days, though, have raised anew the question of what kind of leadership is needed for this time in the history of the Church. In this course, we look at biblical sources (primarily, the letters of the Apostle Paul and the lives of Phoebe and Priscilla), individuals from the Ancient Church (Basil of Caesarea and Macrina, Bede, Boniface, and Timothy of Baghdad) and from the modern era (Brilliana Harley, Antoine Court, Jonathan Edwards, Anne Dutton, Andrew Fuller, and Hugh Brown) to help guide our reflection about the nature and shape of Christian leadership.

SPECIALIZED CERTIFICATES

Typical Problems in Biblical Counselling*, Matthew King

This course will involve the conceptualization and counselling methodology for problems typically encountered in Biblical Counseling. Biblical formulations and secular approaches will be compared and contrasted.

PCS514-1 & 23 (Seminary); Prerequisites: PCS512 & PCS513
